

Cultural Practices of Death and Dying

FREE!

Cultures vary in how they conceptualize death and what happens when a person dies. While dying is a universal experience the process by which we express grief, honor those who have died, and select an end of life practice varies between cultures.

Join our panelists, representing End of Life Doulas, the Occaneechi Band of the Saponi Nation, the Chapel Hill Zen Center, and the Judea Reform Congregation Chevra Kadisha, as we explore different practices and gain a greater understanding of death and dying in America.

Heavy hors d'oeuvres will be served.

Tuesday, November 11 • 5:30-7:30 pm
